Dear Virak,

① Good part of <sup>your</sup> answer writing/ this mock is that in all questions you have attempted, your Conceptual Clarity, expression, Contextual discussion and upto a sufficient level Contextual Justification are satisfactory.

② Your Presentation, Communication and articulation is also satisfactory.

③ Intro, you can make more Comprehensive and Similiary Conclusion.

④ Almost in all answer there is a scope of content enrichment/ ~~the~~ recent data/ Current affairs etc. - otherwise every other aspects are fine.. work on that = All the best this time.

Q1. There have been allegations by civil societies that Unlawful Activities prevention act (UAPA) is against constitution of liberty, fair trial and right to freedom of speech and dissent. Comment 150 words is an anti-terror law to deal with anti-social element which challenge security of country. There so are some issues with UAPA highlighted by civil society.

Unlawful Activities Prevention Act, 1967 (UAPA)

Issues

- ① Vagueness in definition of 'terror activities'
- ② Power of state to declare individual (+ organisations) as terrorists is feared to be misused.
- ③ stringent condition of granting bail.
(eg) Accused of Delli Riots in 2021 were granted bail after one year.
- ④ Fear to impose UAPA section in dissent, protest cases.
- ⑤ Low conviction rate (< 1%) 2.2% (2016-20)

These impact individual liberty, freedom of speech and expression and fair trial. Since individual is not on equal footing as state.

Way Ahead

With challenges like terrorism, naxalism, insurgency, UAPA sets rights tone for safety & security of India.

However it should be balanced with justice, rule of law, individual liberty.

Adequate safeguards, procedure established by law need to be followed in UAPA cases to allay these fears.

OK, but better if this part is in objective of UAPA after introduction part of conclusion

Q2. "Federalism for me but not for thee" In this context discuss the impediments in upholding federal principles and suggest measures to strengthen it. 150 words

Federalism is part of basic structure of constitution. These are some issues due to asymmetric power between centre and state.

Impediments in upholding federal principles

- ① Constitution itself provide federal setup with strong centralised tendency.
- ② Incapacity of states in financial resources and logistics prevents more power devolution and procure e.g. states inability to administer vaccine (25%) after caused centre to take those shares.
- ③ Role of governor - Centre is said to control state through office of Governor.
- ④ lack of collective voice among states.
- Infrequent meeting of Interstate council (ISC) and zonal councils (ZC) have prevented states to give equal collective demand.

⑤ Different political parties ruling centre & state.

Measures to strengthen federalism

① Fiscal federalism - Financial empowerment of states through grants, powers.

② Permanent meetings and dispute resolutions of ISC, ZCs

③ Making Giving autonomy to Governor's office (Ponchi Commission, Sankaria Commission)

Stronger states make strong union. Hence state autonomy, empowerment can help achieve goal of cooperative federalism in true sense.

(eg) Manipur <sup>assembly</sup> speaker decided case after 2 years in 2019

③ Discourages MPs/MLAs in debates against party line.

④ Creates factionalism in political party.

Way forward

① Use of ADL in important cases of like No confidence Motion (Dinesh Goswami Committee)

② speaker adjudicating on ECI's advice

③ Providing time limit for adjudication

④ Barring legislators defecting from contesting ongoing by-polls.

With reforms ADL can provide stable, representative and continuous governance.

Pressure groups are informal group who work to achieve common goals of members. These are diverse and include farm groups, business groups etc.

use this

Methods Used to Achieve Goal

① Electioneering → Act as considerable vote share.

eg. Caste group demanding reservation for giving votes

② Lobbying eg. Industries lobby for flexible laws

③ Protests Marching eg. Farms group (BKU) in recent farm laws protest

④ Social Media

eg. Hashtags on twitter

Online petitions → change.org on draft EIA rules.

Judicial Route

eg. PIL, ADR

Int of Concept and relevant examples.

Evaluation of Methods :-

Successes

Repeat of farm laws due to <sup>by</sup> protest

India coming out of RCEP after NSM and protest

Judicial verdicts in favour of transgender rights, electoral reforms etc.

Failures

online campaigns do not create meet their objectives in general

Not all protest/march result in acceptance of demand.

Conclusion line However, pressure groups are important part of Indian democracy. They keep check and balances, advocate rights of excluded, expose ground realities. They make democracy vibrant, inclusive and participatory.

Q7. Provision of ordinance in the constitution is to deal with unforeseen or urgent matters, but its increased frequency is an assault of democratic credentials of parliamentary system. Critically comment 150 words

Ordinances
making Powers

Article 123

For President on union and concurrent list

Article 213

For Governors at state
(state + concurrent list)

Importance of ordinances

- ① Deal with unforeseen events when house in not in session.
- ② Legislating urgent matters.
(eg) Amendments in Epidemic Disease Act (EDA) to prevent assault on healthcare workers during pandemic. (through ordinances)

Criticism

- ① More ordinances being brought to evade parliamentary scrutiny and debates

ii) opinions of stakeholders not considered.

eg) 3 farm laws are being protested as alleged to be non-consultative, and being forced.

iii) Controversial bills being passed through ordinance

Impact

→ Poor quality laws due to lack of debates

→ Trust erosion of people in parliament

→ Friction between government and opposition resulting in disruptions in parliament.

Way Ahead

⊙ Ordinances should be brought in urgent cases. Executive should restraint is needed

⊙ Vigilant civil society, opposition, and media are needed to point out discrepancy.

Q8. Dissent and Criticism of the government are essential ingredients of robust public debate in a vibrant democracy. In this context examine the relevance of IPC Section 124A. 150 words

With increased number of sedition cases (IPC - Section 124A) between 2016-2019 (NCRB), debate on utility of sedition law in democracy has come forward.

Arguments against Sedition law in India

① Stifles dissent and criticism of government
→ Sedition cases on journalist reporting during COVID-19

② low conviction rate under sedition cases (NCRB - 2020)

③ colonial law, repealed in liberal and western democracy.

④ Provisions covered in other laws - UAPA, National Security Act (NSA)

Need for Sedition laws

① Challenges of naxalism, separatism, secessionism all threatened national integrity & unity.

② Safeguards available against misuse

Supreme court in Kedannath Singh vs state of Bihar 1962 case said criticism of government, however strong is not sedition. If it leads to violence against state, then it is se act of sedition.

Conclusion

Law Commission of India in its recent report said that 'there is need to relook sedition laws in India'. It should be used in rarest cases where legitimacy of government is challenged through violent and illegitimate methods.

Q 12. For effective justice delivery system, now Indian judicial system needs several reforms. Critically Comment 250 words Judiciary plays important role of justice delivery, checks and balances in Indian governance system. However, like any other system, it is also not perfect. and faces issues.

Issues in Judicial System

① Judicial Accountability:

- Appointment of judges through collegium system lacks transparency.
- In-house panel for inquiry (corruption, harassment)
- Judges judging themselves.
- Complex removal process.

② Transparency:

- RTI rules are not applicable to High courts and supreme courts. Their rules have several lacunae.
